History

Old Camp Kilmer barracks

Aerial view; Livingston College under construction

Quads 1 and 2 under construction, July 1968

Livingston College was chartered in 1965 with an eye on advancement in the fields of education and human relations. A modern curriculum and an international student body have helped place Livingston among the top progressive schools in the nation.

We are all a part of Livingston's youth, and together we can help build a proud history of brotherhood and enlightenment.

Retrospect

College

Don't be afraid to look back. There's no shame in cherishing your memories. Remember with pleasure, with abandon, with misty eyes if the emotion takes you. Memories recalled are memories increased and enriched tenfold, moments recaptured in intensified clarity and mellowed spontaneity. Time stands still when you remember . . .

RUTGE
THE STA

There comes a time when construction is complete, when a structure is ready to stand on its own and weather out what the world has to offer. A time comes when the only remaining task is the setting of the cornerstone, a notice to all who see it that work is completed, and it is ready to be put to good use. There comes a time to see just how strong we really are, to graduate to the future.

When things go wrong as they sometimes will,
When the road you're truding seems uphill,
When the funds are low and debts are high,
And you want to smile, but you have to sigh,
When care is pressing you down a bit —
Rest if you must, but don't you quit.
Life is queer with its twists and turns,
As everyone of us sometimes learns,
And many a fellow turns about
When he might have won had he stuck it out.
Don't give up though the pace seems slow —
You may succeed with another blow.
Often the goal is nearer than
It seems to a faint and faltering man;
Often the struggler has given up
When he might have captured the victor's cup;
And he learned too late when the night came down,
How close he was to the golden crown.
Success is failure turned inside out —
The silver tint of the clouds of doubt,
And you never can tell how close you are,
It may be near when it seems afar;
So stick to the fight when you're hardest hit — It's when things seem worst that you mustn't quit.

— Anon.

Not everything that is faced can be changed; but nothing can be changed until it is faced.

Dusk Above the water hang the loud flies
Here
O so gray then
What A pale signal will appear
When Soon before its shadow fades
Where Here in this pool of opened eye In us No upon us As at the very edges of where we take shape in the dark air this object bares its image awakening ripples of recognition that will brush darkness up into light after this bird this hour both drift by atop the perfect and instant now already passing out of sight toward yet-untroubled reflection this image bears its object darkening into memorial shades Scattered bits of light No of water Or something across water Breaking up No Being regathered soon Yet by then a swan will have gone Yes out of mind into what vast pale hush of a place past sudden dark as if a swan sang

For Poets

Stay beautiful but dont stay down underground too long Dont turn into a mole or a worm or a root or a stone

Come on out into the sunlight
Breathe in trees
Knock out mountains
Commune with snakes & be the very hero of birds

Dont forget to poke your head up & blink Think
Walk all around Swim upstream

Dont forget to fly

Livingston people; all sizes, all shapes, all colors and moods; at play, at work and at rest. All of them at progressive Livingston College, the Foundation of brotherhood.

Spring

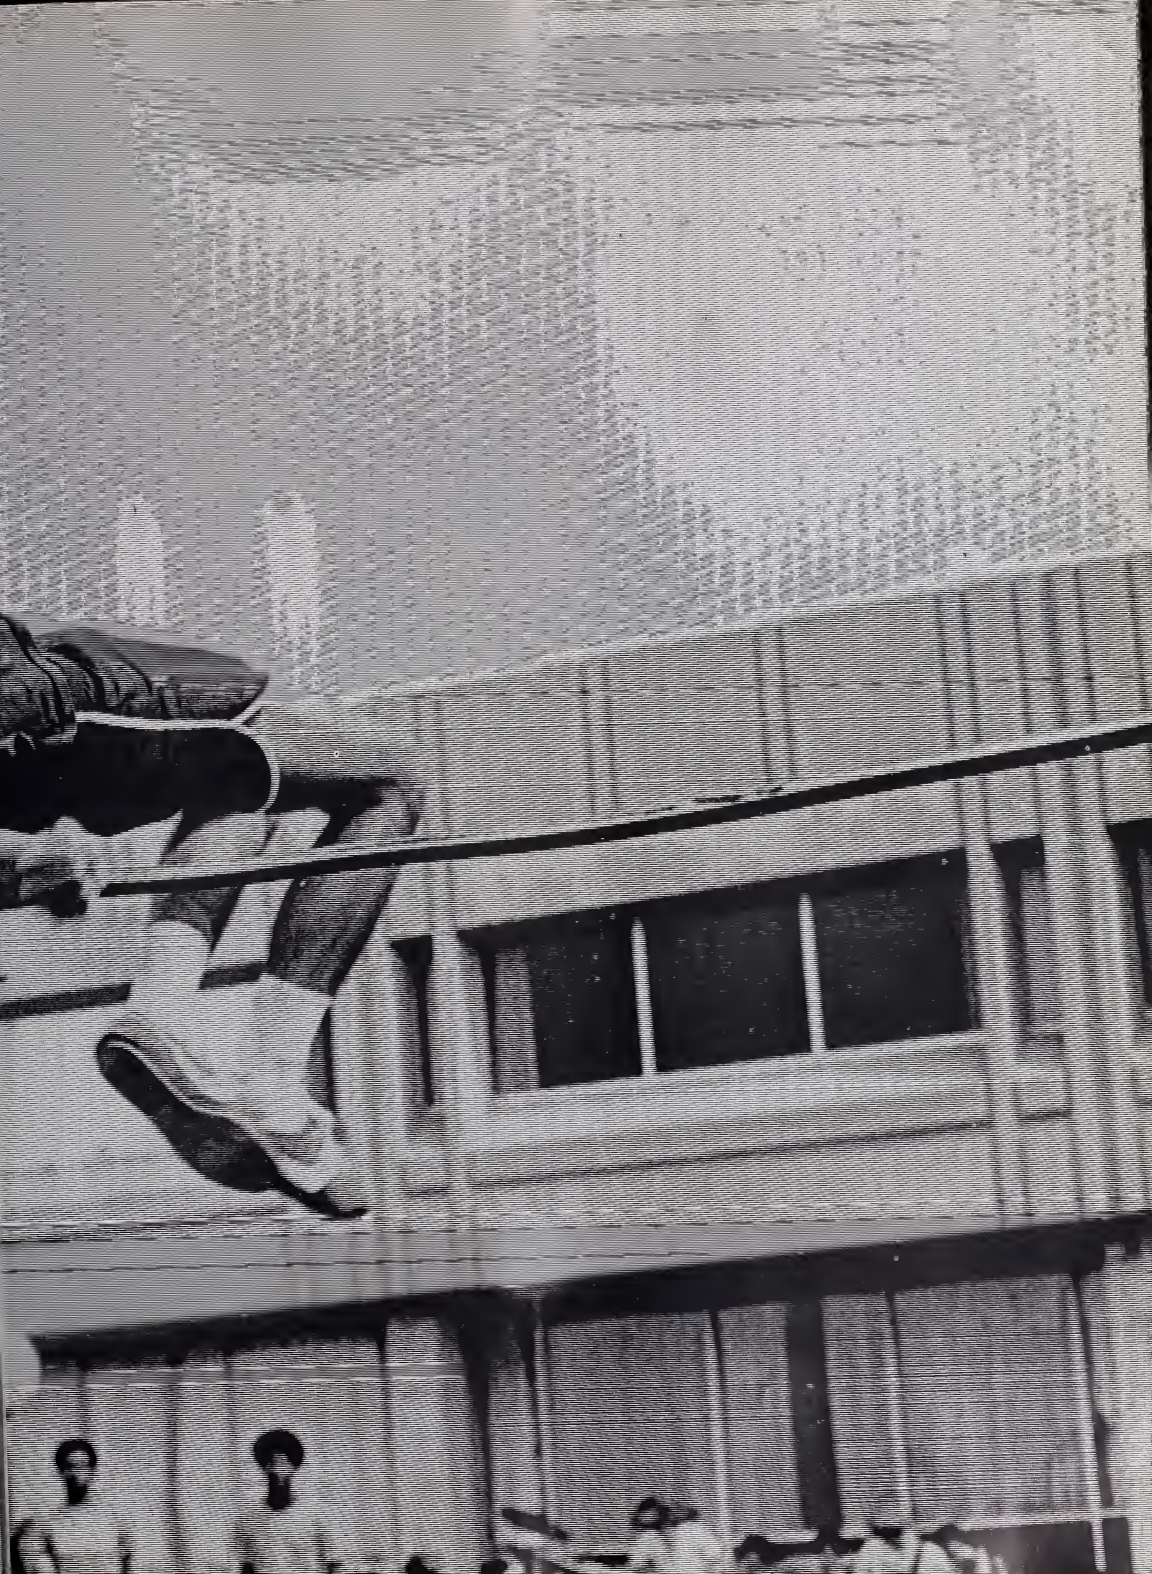
Weekend

Spring Weekend '77

Many students participated in a pleasurable weekend of music, sports, picnics and games. Below: Puppy tries desperately to finish that "last bit".

Freshmen Orientation

Several newcoming freshmen competed in the "Anything Goes" sport event. Winners of individual competition were Shulton Whitley, hurdles; Angel Cathado, high jump; Daniel Denalane, soccer run; Lenny Mazza, tire event; and Mark Carfi, spoon and egg run. The remaining eggs were used in a "yolky" egg tossing contest.



"That's right, podnuh, this here is the real Sundance Kid."

Halloween Party At The Commuter Lounge

"Uh . . . I just want to make my sinuses PERFECTLY CLEAR."

"Jane, I've told you a million times to please stop scratching my "How to Yell Like Tarzan" record."

"Nice trick, but what about my hair?"

The Caribbean Festival at Livingston College featured dance, poetry, music and drama to portray things that have happened in Caribbean history, an area of strong African influence. The festival began with a tribute to Marcus Garvey, proponent of universal black unity, and moved on to poetry readings by Los Nuevos Poetas and drama and music by Teatro Otra Cosa.

The festival was sponsored by the Douglass Puerto Rican Students, the West Indian Students Organization and the Livingston — Rutgers U.E.P.

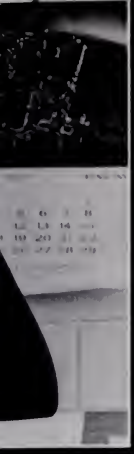
Faculty And Administration

College

To construct a solid institution, one must first provide an equally solid foundation. The Administration and Faculty of Livingston College provide this firm base for the expansion of the school to new and greater heights. Without such a strong footing to hold it firmly in place, Livingston would rest precariously on the shifting sands of the world and sway with its every whim. Livingston's Administration and Faculty — the corner stone of a mighty school.



To the Livingston College Class of 1978:

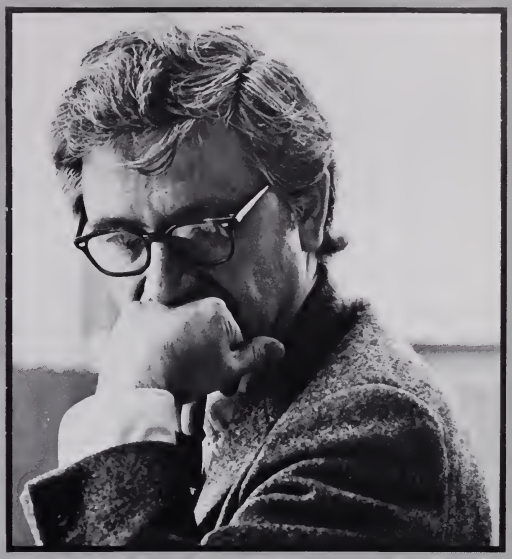
One of the most pleasant aspects of presidential responsibility is congratulating the students who have successfully completed the work required for their degrees.

To be sure, I have not had the opportunity to meet many members of your senior class. From other days at other colleges, including my own, however, I am keenly aware of the sum total of individual sacrifice and strain that graduation represents. I also know the fulfillment and joy it represents.

Life being what it is, we turn from the solution of one set of problems to wrestling with new ones. In this my good wishes go with you now and always.

Sincerely,

Edward J. Bloustein
President



Edward J. Bloustein
President of Rutgers University

Dear Graduate:

I am addressing this letter to you since it is upon you that the reputation and future of Livingston College will lie. In your stay at Livingston you have had the opportunity to study under a truly outstanding faculty, one second to none in Rutgers University and one which includes many persons of international reputation. I hope that you have availed yourself fully of this opportunity and will always reflect upon and profit from the ideas passed on to you by these people. After all, ideas and the ability to deal with them will be the greatest single return on your four-year investment in higher education.

Another and very significant part of anyone's education involves his or her peer relationships which have been developed. At Livingston College you have been a part of an unusually diverse student body, one which represents all facets of our general population. All racial and ethnic groups are present in significant numbers, older students returning to or just entering college after a number of years outside of the educational stream constitute a visible segment of our student body, and varied political and religious beliefs are well represented. To this group you owe acknowledgement of the broadening of your horizons, and they owe to you acknowledgement of your own specific contribution to the College.

Now that you are leaving us to take your place in the job market, to assume positions in all aspects of the employment scheme, and to go on to graduate and professional schools, you can best evaluate how good an education you received. Did your studies and your associations at Livingston College prepare you adequately? Do you have the knowledge and skills of your peers? Let us know. Your responses will help us to evaluate and improve our curriculum.

Finally, it has been a pleasure having you at Livingston College. I have enjoyed our personal contacts and wish that it had been possible to know each of you. Don't forget your College; keep in touch. You are the reward for our efforts and our investment in the future.

Sincerely yours,

We often took different stands and different kinds of chances. We made different decisions, aimed for various goals, and lived as individuals. We're all different, but we all shared one important thing: student life at Livingston College.

A student advisor's duties involve much more than opening locked doors. There is counseling students in both academic and personal matters. There is assistance in the planning of social events, and there is coordination of house activities. Most of all, there is the satisfaction of helping their fellow students the best they can.

What could possibly draw residents of Quad 2 away from the Yankees? Why, Quad 2 Jeopardy! And who can we thank for this extravaganza? Why, the student advisors of Quad 2!

Answer: who was the overall winner of Quad 2 Jeopardy? The correct question: Who is Mark Ezzo?

We have resolved that we will not speak of this winter as "The Great Blizzard of '78'." We won't mention that it was the largest season of snowfall in the 20th Century. Nothing will force us to note that classes were cancelled for the first time in the University's history because of the weather.

. . . Let it suffice to say that it snowed.

Two of the greatest gifts man can share with others are the ability to create and the willingness to share those creations. Be it music, theatrics, art, or any other work, we all benefit from their generosity. Livingston College is fortunate to have students, faculty members, and employees who care enough to give of themselves and an atmosphere conducive to outside artists' desires to bring their own special talents to us.

Livingston Jazz Ensemble

Jazz Professors' African Tour

Livingston Jazz Professors Larry Ridley, Freddie Waits, Kenny Barron, Frank Foster and Ted Dunbar's African tour this past December brought famous Afro-American jazzmen back to the music's birthplace for the first time. The Professors' African Festival, held in the Kingdom of Lesotho, featured concerts and educational jazz workshops.

The tour was conceived and planned by famed jazz bassist Monk Montgomery, who is an associate member of the Rutgers Institute of Jazz Studies. Montgomery accompanied the group as a guest of honor.

Proceeds of this and future festivals will go to the Dizzy Gillespie Scholarship Fund, which will finance the education of a Lesotho music student at Livingston College.

David Scott, director of the Organizational Development Institute of Southern Africa, expressed the impact of the festival best in an excerpt from a letter to Rutgers President Edward J. Bloustein; "Southern Africa, as you know, is one of the problem areas in the world today, and, therefore, it needs all the more visits and support and the expertise such as your people were able to give, especially in the way of helping us to help ourselves."

Livingston Sports College

The true measure of a team's success is not its win-lose record. The real answer lies in the values of sportsmanship, team play and camaraderie that can be found in a close-knit, well coached club. Livingston can take pride in knowing that those who played, agreed as one, that win or lose, to play was fun.

UNIDENTIFIED SPECTATOR

Standing on the winning side has its advantages like when the noise swells you are not on the wrong end of the bell or when the chants from those others really sound like they have the disadvantage or when finally the minutes no longer seem like hours as pressure is unleashed against those same chanting others

Standing on the winning side has a definite advantage when at the end when all others are running to celebrate you have the distinct honor to know you now sit alone

Clubs And Organizations

College

To many students, there is an activity that is almost as important to them as the academic side of college life. That activity is involvement in a club or organization. For some, it is a chance to pursue a hobby, develop a talent, or build for the future, while for others it is a way to provide a service and have a good time simultaneously. Livingston's clubs and organizations help a student to aid both himself and others in his or her own special field.

Dream Song

Walk with the sun,
Dance at high noon;
And dream when night falls black;
But when the stars
Vie with the moon,
Then call the lost dream back.

Drop-In Center

The Drop-in Center is Livingston's oldest student run organization. It features peer counseling nightly from 7 P.M. until 1 A.M. Other features of the Drop-in Center are Hotline, sensitivity sessions, sexuality seminars, and the sponsoring of various social functions. Coordinators of the Center are Vivienne Matalon, Scott Lissmer and Richard Lovelace. Roger Brown serves as faculty advisor.

Livingston Seniors College

Though the foundations of a building, and likewise a belief, must be strong and sturdy, the upper reaches of that edifice have to be stable and unyielding. When a college student reaches the uppermost limits of academics, he is buffeted by the winds of worldly influence, pounded by the rain of contempt, and swayed by the turbulence of life. He holds fast to his ideals and beliefs despite attempts at toppling him; for as the bricks in a stable structure interlock in strength, he links with his brothers to form an indestructable bond.

The Senior class of '78 at Livingston College is a class locked together by an invisible mortar of love and respect that surpasses in strength even the most strict building code that life can offer.
